

An Afternoon of Colorado Poetry

FREE Poetry Reading

Saturday, July 10
3 o'clock pm

Come to Wisdom Tea House in Monument for an afternoon of original work read by Pikes Peak area poets. The reading will take place on the patio and refreshments will be for sale.

65 Second Street, Monument CO, 80132
www.wisdomteahouse.com

Cynthia Storrs teaches and writes in Colorado Springs, and serves on the board of Poetry West. She lived 25 years in Europe, and has published articles on bilingualism, biculturalism and cultural adaptation, in addition to her poetry.

Jessy Randall's poetry collection, A Day in Boyland, was a finalist for the Colorado Book Award. Red Hen Press will publish her new collection, Injecting Dreams into Cows, in 2011. Her website is <http://personalwebs.coloradocollege.edu/~jrandall>.

Price Strobridge was the Pikes Peak Art Council Performance Poet for 2005 and a Gazette Choice Award winner in 2006. He is on the board of directors with Poetry West and has published one volume of poetry, Unmasking the Heart (Impavide Publications, 2000).

Janet Kenning is a graduate of the Iowa Writers' Workshop. Her work has appeared in many literary magazines, including Ploughshares, Diagram, and Poet Lore. She's taught at UCCS and Pikes Peak Community College, has been a finalist twice for the National Poetry Series, and is the recipient of a Colorado Council on the Arts award.

Denise Gard is a Colorado Springs poet who has been published in several publications, such as The Briar Cliff Review, Kiosk, and Voices of the Muse. She is also a professional storyteller and maintains a website at <http://storycreations.org>.

for more information, contact Kelsi Vanada at kelsidawn@comcast.net or 719-331-9289